Flexible Payment Fee

Applies only to orders with flexible payment terms under the FlexUp Economic Model

💡 What it is

Business logic:

- FlexUp applies a small flexible payment fee on orders using flexible payment terms (Credit, Token, Preferred, Flex, or Superflex).
- These terms let users defer or reschedule payments, improving cash flow resilience.
- Convert fixed → flexible costs for smoother cash flow
- Treat participants as associates (credits/tokens), increasing ownership & alignment

Applies only to:

- Accounts that signed the FlexUp Charter
- Orders using flexible payment terms
- The account that created the order

⚙️ How it works

- Fee depends on payment terms:

Higher risk factor = Greater flexibility

- Formula:

$$\text{Fee} = 3\% \times \text{Risk Factor} \times \text{Order Amount}$$

- Example for a 1 000 € order:

Payment Term	Risk Factor	Fee %	Fee (€)
Credits	80 %	2.4 %	24 €
Flex	20 %	0.6 %	6 €
Preferred	5 %	0.15 %	1.5 €

Recognizing the value of flexibility & alignment

Appendices

1. FlexUp Economic Model

2. App fee structure

No discrimination based on participant's nature, all can have the same remuneration system, on an voluntary basis*, regardless of the nature of their contribution

Each participant negotiates his target remuneration with the project in return for his respective contribution

*: Participant are also always free to opt for FlexUp model or stay in the conventional model. Their may have different remunerations of course, but based on a common system.

Each participant is free to choose how much risk he is willing to take on his remuneration by splitting it over one or more priority levels

- Target price is the fair market price
- Initial price paid to supplier is firm and is below market price
- Flexible price is paid next, based on available cash

- Target price is the fair market price
- Initial price paid by client is firm and is above market price
- Flexible price is then refunded by supplier back to client, based on available cash

- Suppliers* can support a project by splitting their remuneration over multiple priority levels:
  - firm commitments must be paid first,
  - flexible commitments are paid next, conditionally, if the project has enough available cash
- Flexible priorities include all priorities except firm.
  - preferred, flex & superflex are paid monthly,
  - equity (credits & tokens) is paid annually,
  - if there is not enough cash for a given priority, all related commitments are paid at the same rate

Ex. everyone receives 60% of his flex for that month
- Unpaid residues are rescheduled or converted to equity
- Clients can also support a project by paying a higher initial price, and receiving flexible rebates, paid later based on available cash

Legend:

Inflows
Outflows

For each priority level, all commitments are paid at the same rate, regardless of each participant's nature

* in FlexUp, the term "supplier" also includes employees, banks, investors ... anyone providing a contribution and being remunerated for it

Payments are made by order of priority. If there is insufficient cash, commitments of a given priority level are all paid at the same rate

The payment order does not depend on the nature of the participant but on the priority of each commitment, chosen freely by each participant

* these % are default values. They can be changed by decision of the assembly of associates (token holders).

Residues of unpaid outflows are rescheduled or converted into equity

Accepting a flexible remuneration does not mean you earn less,
it means you are willing to invest in the project

Profits and voting rights are distributed based on tokens, which are issued to associates based on the risk taken on their remuneration

Example 1:

- Tony does a job for 100 €. He decides to split his remuneration in 3 tranches: 50% firm, 25% flex, and 25% credit
- Based on this payment structure, the total risk is 30 € ( $100 \text{ €} * 30\%$ )
- If the token index is 1 €/token, he receives 30 tokens ( $30 \text{ €} \div 10 \text{ €/token}$ )

Tranche	Portion	Nominal amount	Risk factor	Risk	Discounted value	Tokens #
Firm	50%	50 €	-	-	50 €	-
Flex	25%	25 €	40%	10 €	15 €	10
Credit	25%	25 €	80%	20 €	5 €	20
Total	100%	100 €	30%	30 €	70 €	30

Principles:

- Tokens are issued to all participants to reward the risk taken on their flexible remuneration
- The risk is based on the remuneration's payment structure, i.e. the split between several tranches
- Each tranche has different payment terms
- Payment terms include priority levels, due date, interest rates, etc
- The number of tokens issued is equal to:

$$\text{tokens} = \text{remuneration} \times \text{risk factor} \div \text{token index}$$
- Participants that have tokens are called associates
- Tokens determine both voting rights and profit share

Example 2:

- At the end of the year, the project has 1 000 € of excess cash
- It is distributed to all associates based on their number of tokens

Associate	# tokens	% total	Distribution
Tony	30	20%	200 €
Kim	70	35%	350 €
Claire	90	45%	450 €
Total	190	100%	1 000 €

*: other payment options include: buyback options, rescheduling, interest priority...
